1. Overview

FontFilter provides a palette for easier handling of fonts within QuarkXPress™. It only displays the fonts used in the current document together with a subset of the system fonts. This subset can be defined by the user.

2. System requirements

- QuarkXPress™ 8/9/10
- MacOS X 10.6-10.9

3. Installation

To install FontFilter copy the file „FontFilter.xnt“ into the XTensions-folder of QuarkXPress™. After restarting QuarkXPress™ a dialog for entering an activation key is shown. After entering the activation key FontFilter is ready to use. In demo mode the software only works for single page documents.

4. The FontFilter palette

The FontFilter palette can be shown or hidden by choosing „Window->FontFilter“.

The text field shows the current active font, if any. By clicking on the popup triangle at the right a menu pops up with a list of fonts for changing the current font. The list consists of all fonts found in the document together with a subset of the system fonts.

This subset can be defined by clicking in the standard palette menu item (for Quark 8/9 control click into the window title).

The following dialog pops up:
